The A-level mindset

VESPA

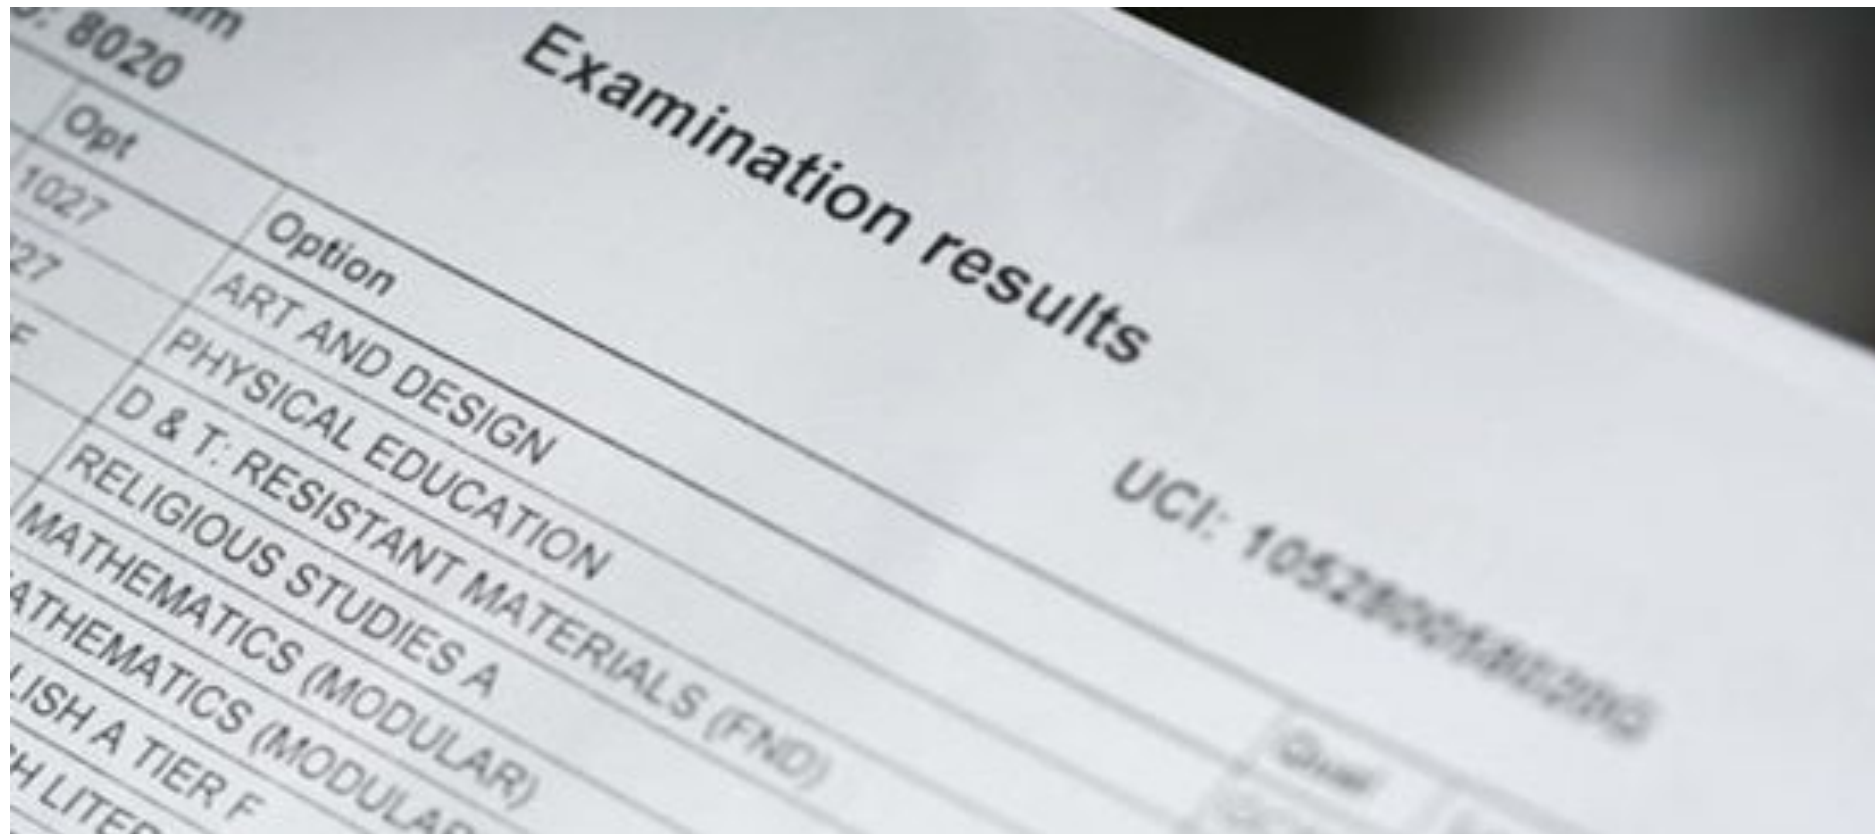

systems

attitude

A reminder that students are expected to be in school every day and register with their form tutor
They are NOT to leave site in their study periods unless it has been agreed that with Mr Lloyd / Mr White e.g. for enrichment
They can leave for lunch but they need to scan in and out for safeguarding reasons

More than just a piece of paper

Reflection - Virtual Academic Record

AREAS OF STRENGTH
PC1	The content and evidence used in question 4 answers.
PC2	The depth of knowledge in AO1 answers.
PC3	The detail of the content based questions and responses to 6A questions
PC4	There is a good use of examples and statistics to support points made in responses. The content knowledge used is detailed.

AREAS NEEDING IMPROVEMENT
PC1
PC2	Jump huge for FM. Struggled with assumed expectation.. Still need a bit nurturing from staff! Lots of content. Interpreting questions. Speed - have been running out of time.
PC3	Work on power and resistance; work on finding stationary points without calculus; median of a PDF
PC4	Working on exam technique, taking too long to do tests currently. Revision of discrete and continuous variables, and revision of hyperbolics, maclaurin series and integration and differentiation of more

ONLINE LEARNING PLATFORMS

e.g. SENECA

The image shows a screenshot of the Seneca Learning website. The top navigation bar includes the Seneca logo, 'Teachers', 'Blog', 'Join class', 'Login', and a 'Sign up' button. The main banner features the text 'Learn 2x faster for free with Seneca' and 'Join the 1,750,000 students using the funnest way to improve their KS2, KS3, GCSE & A Level grades.' A 'Get started free' button is centered below the banner. Below the banner is a preview of a course page for 'Geography: AQA GCSE'. The course page has a sidebar with a table of contents including '1 The Challenge of Natural Hazards' and sub-topics like '1.1 Natural Hazards', '1.1.1 Types of Natural Hazards', '1.1.2 Factors Affecting Hazard Risk', '1.1.3 Consequences of Natural Hazards', '1.2 Tectonic Hazards', '1.3 Weather Hazards', and '1.4 Climate Change'. The main content area shows a diagram of 'Natural Hazards' divided into 'Geological hazards' (Caused by the land on the Earth and tectonic movements, E.g. earthquakes) and 'Meteorological hazards' (Involve the weather or climate, E.g. heatwaves). Below the diagram is a video player with the title 'Natural Hazards - Different Risks' and a description: 'Some places are likely to be hit by many natural hazards, such as the Philippines. The Philippines is at risk of earthquakes, volcanoes, tsunamis, tropical storms, floods and landslides.' The video player shows a man in a blue jacket speaking. A '9/5' badge is visible in the top right corner of the video player area.
